The Davis-Bacon Act (DBA) requires contractors and subcontractors working on covered contracts for the construction, alteration, or repair (including painting or decorating) of federal public works, such as highways and other transportation infrastructure, to pay prevailing wages. The dramatic increase in the amount of federal government contracts and funding agreements has made DBA compliance a critical issue for FTBA members.

Please join us on December 15, 2009 at 11:00 a.m. Eastern for a 2-hour webinar where we will discuss the details of DBA coverage, requirements, definitions, wage determinations, calculation of and credit for various benefits toward the fringe rate, example payment situations that comply with the DBA, the DBA survey process, common compliance mistakes, and the penalties and sanctions for compliance failures.

FTBA Member and Labor Lawyer, Phillip B. Russell of Constangy, Brooks & Smith, LLP, will present this timely webinar on how to comply with the prevailing wage requirement of the Davis-Bacon Act.

Online registration is available at www.constangy.com with credit card payment.
